OUR TOWN

A Touch of Paris . . .

Montreal is the largest French-speaking city in the world next to the French capital and it has been Canada's largest and most sophisticated settlement almost since Jacques Cartier happened on the site in 1535. It still is, from Crescent Street discos to Olympic Stadium, modern as tomorrow.

Old and New

Old Montreal

Old Montreal is a 95-acre sanctuary of young artists and old cobble-stones, gas lights and splendid food. A good place to start exploring Old Montreal is at Place Jacques Cartier just opposite City Hall. Here two can sip a drink at a sidewalk cafe before heading into the narrow streets where the city began, a place filled with boutiques, museums, antique shops and some of Montreal's best restaurants.

Le Metro

A few years ago, when the city was building up, it decided to build down too. The result is a triple-star city underground. Nine miles of downtown are down under. Including all metro lines, there are thirty miles of the second city. Each station is a work of art, each station different, with high speed trains guiding silently on rubber wheels.

A Place For All Tastes

From Old Montreal, that marvellous stroll into history, to the city's world renown'd restaurants, one will find that Montreal's attitude toward life cries out "Bon Appétit."

Montreal! Ville Marie! City of Mary! Mount Royal with its Cross set high over the city to remind us that "God so loved the world as to send his only begotten Son to us for our salvation"! City of poets and priests, of artists and artisans, of musicians and merchants! City of business, manufacturing and finance! City of winter sports, above all, hockey! City of old buildings and skyscrapers, of churches and institutions, of thoroughfares and express ways!

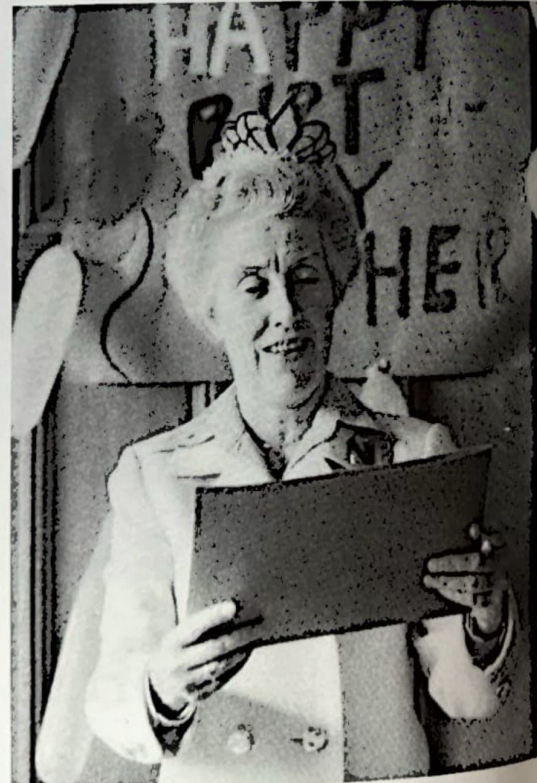

Nevertheless, despite the diversity, it is safe to say that Montrealers are united by a common link, love for their city. We relish the rush and excitement, the charm and atmosphere of Old Montreal, its restaurants and boutiques, its theatres and museums. The more venturesome among us even enjoy a walk on the Mountain on a sunny afternoon.

As a Montreal poet declares, Montreal is a city to which it is good to return:

Never do I sojourn in alien place
But I do languish for your scenes and sounds.

What can I wish you, Montrealers, as you step into the world? May you remember the good things which you have left behind, may you cherish the friends who have been dear to you, and may you bring to the universe beyond some of the gifts which you have received from Montreal. God bless you!

Director of Studies

"Montreal - The City with a Heart" has become a very popular slogan for our city but another slogan could be "Montreal - The City with a Sacred Heart."

Montreal is one of the many cities around the world which make up the large Sacred Heart Family. This makes Montreal similar in some ways to other cities but we also know that it is different too.

To the Class of 1979, I extend all my best wishes for the future. May you remember us with warm feelings and know that now as Alumnae you are still members of the Sacred Heart Family and always welcome to visit.

C. Barbara Joy

The Ride

The bronze-coated stallion threw up his head suddenly, sensing a presence. A boy jumped out from behind a bush and talked soothingly to the horse. The stallion snorted and stepped back a few paces. The boy came towards the horse and petted his muzzle. The stallion rubbed affectionately against the boy, knowing only kindness. The boy slowly ran his hand over the horse's broad back before quietly vaulting on. The horse, taken by surprise, wheeled around and tried to bite the boy's legs. The boy urged the stallion forward and he broke into a gallop. They flew over the dusty Arizona plains, kicking up tumbleweeds as they went by. The horse suddenly stopped and the boy sailed over his head. He stood looking at the fallen boy for a minute before galloping on. The boy picked himself up, wiped his jeans of the dust and watched the last of the golden stallion disappear through the canyon pass. He sighed and then walked home.

Seasons

Winter's the time when there are icicles.
Spring's the time to take out your bicycles.
Summer's the time when birds are calling.
Autumn's the time when leaves are falling.

Winter's the time to shovel the snow.
Spring's the time when flowers grow.
Summer's the time when children play.
Autumn's the time when sales are gray.

Winter's the season for snowballs.
Spring's the season when rain falls.
Summer's the season to make new friends.
Autumn's the season when the good weather ends.

Winter's the time when your car gets stuck.
Spring's the time when you have good luck.
Summer's the time to enjoy the sun.
Autumn's the time when the leaves are fun.

ACTIVITIES

Dashabustadd

Once again this year Dashabustadd was a great success. The play bearing the theme "Together we're better," delivered a message of the possibility of peace between two so-called enemies. Mother Johnson, the faculty and the students witnessed how "Rock and Disco" could walk off the stage in harmony. After the distribution of gifts, brunch was served in the cafeteria. The morning was topped off with a talent show which consisted of acts from Secondary I through V.

International Day

International Day was held on Wednesday, January 31. The girls who wore their native costumes, greeted us with salutations in their respective tongues. The nationalities represented ranged from occidental, origins such as North American Indians to those of Oriental background such as Chinese. Much fun was had while partaking in the day's events.

Christmas Wishes

This year Christmas Wishes were held on a Friday, December 20. The play which was based on the theme "Everything goes faster when we work together," was written by Antonia Maioni and directed by Janet Ferrier and Juliet Waters. After the distribution of gifts and treats, a mass which was organized by the Religion Department and a Secondary II class, was held in the chapel. Truly a day of enjoyment was had by Mother Johnson, the faculty and the students.

Ski Trips

This year we found ourselves fortunate to participate in two carnivals; the first with Loyola and the second with Lower Canada College. The Loyola winter carnival festivities were opened on Saturday, January 27 with a senior warmer. A "free for all" was held the following Wednesday. Thursday, February 1, Mont Avila was rented for our outdoor pleasure. Apart from alpine and cross-country skiing the students were able to swim in an outdoor heated pool or go tobogganing. Ending the grand week was the carnival ball. Our warmest congratulations went to Lorie Purino who was crowned carnival queen and to Marion Taylor who created the winning logo. Many thanks to Anick Valiquette and Joan Dufresne who were our student co-ordinators. Our second ski trip was Friday, February 16, with Lower Canada College. Fun was had by all on the superb alpine and cross-country trails at Mont Tremblant.

Snow Day

Snow day was held on Wednesday, February 7. The snow-sculpture contest proved to be the most creative event. Once all the events were completed a snack of hot chocolate and danish was served in the cafeteria. We thank Maria Wajda, Queenie Tse and Mrs. Watson who worked very hard to give us a warm afternoon in the midst of a cold winter day.

Tabloid

The tabloid took place on Wednesday, September 20. Many events such as push-ups, frisbee and basketball throws and a soccer kick provided us with much fun and sore muscles. Thanks again to Maria, Queenie and Mrs. Watson.

Science English Fair

The joint efforts of the Science, English, Physical Education and Art departments were rewarded with a triumphant afternoon of learning, fun and amazement. Visitors and students were captivated by the numerous experiments as well as several skits such as "An Interview With Priestly" and "Galileo's Trial." Film strips on drugs and alcohol were also a part of this enjoyable fair.

Franco-Foire

Un coin de mode, de l'information touristique et plusieurs projets recherchés par les élèves de l'école, tous traitant de pays et de gens francophones, étaient seulement une partie des expositions l'après-midi de la franco-foire. Après avoir apprécié plusieurs pièces de théâtre, nous avons tous gâtés avec un croissant chaud. Tout le monde a bien profité de cette occasion de lire, d'entendre et d'apprendre le français.

Reach For The Top

Reach For The Top had another exciting year. Trincano and Sheldon competed in the consolation finals and Barat was triumphant against Hardey in the finals. The different categories on which the participants were quizzed were original and amusing yet challenging. Hopefully, Reach For The Top will remain a part of the school's activities for many years to come.

Drama Night

Noah's Animals

On two consecutive nights in April, a play entitled "Noah's Animals", directed by Mrs. Cochrane, was performed very successfully. The play showed how Noah's faith helped him to deal with a food shortage, constant complaints and unrest among the passengers. After forty days and forty nights, Noah's efforts were rewarded with a clean, fresh and pure, new world. The cast of this amusing play included Nancy Mazer as Noah, Susan Smidt as Mrs. Noah, Maria Rossi as the angel, Gabrielle Sacconaghi as the faithful dog and Anna Rumin as the infamous Mr. Rat. Some twenty other species added to the liveliness of the play.

Fashion Show

For the third consecutive year, the entire student body was treated with a delightful fashion show. Thirty girls from the secondary V class modelled their chosen outfits which ranged from shorts to chic boutique dresses. Accessories such as sun glasses, flowers and scarfs added the finishing touches to the elegant garments. As the models coolly drifted down the carpeted aisle many ohs and ahs were emitted from the entranced audience. We thank the secondary V girls and Miss Campbell who made this afternoon possible.

Graduation Dance

Friday May 4 was the eve of the 1979 graduation dance. Prior to the dinner and dance at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, Mrs. Cuthbertson generously offered her home to the graduates, their escorts and their teachers. The delicious meal in the Oval Room was topped off with music from two bands and a father-daughter waltz. The promise of an unforgettable evening was upheld in every way. We thank the graduation committee and Mrs. Lincoln who worked very hard to make the evening a memorable one.

Gym Demonstration

Once again the members of the gym and jazz clubs displayed their talent to the school. Various members of the gym club performed on the mats, the vault, and the beam. All routines were expertly coordinated with a chosen musical accompaniment. The members of the jazz club presented an excellent routine choreographed by Jennifer Nobbs. The mood was enhanced by original and unique costumes.

Secondary V Entertainment

On May 18, the secondary IV students worked very hard to feed and entertain the graduates. After a delicious meal and a glorious graduation cake, we were treated to different skits, imitations of our favorite teachers and a farewell song. Secondary IV, your efforts were much appreciated.

Sacred Heart Dance

Secondaries III, IV and V, had a school dance. The location of this semi-formal event was the Montreal Squash and Badminton Club. Boys from Loyola and Lower Canada College were invited. The evening proved to be very enjoyable. We thank the Mother's Guild for their unselfish effort and hard work.

CLUBS AND SPORTS

Crafts Club

The crafts club meetings are held every Thursday during the lunch hour under the supervision of Carol Schweykowsky. Students bring their own crafts to work on, such as embroidery, needlepoint, sewing and so on. This year the Christmas Wishes tree was decorated with the crafts made by the members of the club. The club is a wonderful place to relax and talk while doing something creative.

Bridge Club

The members of this club meet every Friday during the lunch hour and as the name suggests they play bridge. Bridge is not only a game of chance, it is also a game of skill. It is the latter that they try to improve through enjoyable practices among friends.

Games Club

Every Tuesday after lunch, under the supervision of Miss Campbell and Mr. Poisson, girls from all grades get together for a relaxing half hour of games, such as backgammon and Mastermind. This is the first year we have had the games club and it has been a great success.

Music Club

The talented members of the music club, headed by Elizabeth Prescesky, put their musical abilities to work each Friday. They practice a variety of songs from blues and soul to jazz and rock and roll. Their talent was displayed to the school at the Dashabustadd talent show. Hopefully the club will continue next year.

The Animal Club

The animal club is open to all animal lovers in secondary II or III. It has approximately thirty five members each of whom has been assigned to take care of an animal. They must see to it that food and water are never lacking. There are hamsters, gerbils, mice, even a bird. The heads of this club are Tara Vickers and Debbie Lunny. The club's advisor is Mrs. Simon.

Public Speaking Club

This club, organized by Mrs. Reid and Susan Smidt, has experienced a successful year. At the weekly meetings, the group of a dozen students learned the finer points of debating and speaking skills. The group also participated in many tournaments, including the Provincial Final. One of the highlights of the year was a mini — tournament, hosted by the club, in late May. The club is grateful to all those who provided support throughout the year.

Le Club De Francais

Ce club existe afin que nous puissions pratiquer notre français hors de classe. Nous pouvons jouer à différents jeux, lire des revues ou parler avec nos compagnes. Le but de tout ceci est, pour celles des cours plus faibles, d'apprendre et d'exercer un nouveau vocabulaire et, pour les plus avancées, de raffiner et de perfectionner leur usage de la langue française. Les réunions du club sont toujours amusantes et détendantes.

Un Matin D' Automne.

Le sentier légèrement lumineux était encore désert. Le froid vif de l'air formait de petits nuages à chaque expiration. Ce sentier sillonnait ces bois sans fin du grand nord canadien. A chaque coup de vent une pluie multicolore tourbillonnait autour de moi. La vivacité des couleurs était telle que mes yeux n'osaient se fermer, de peur de s'ouvrir à nouveau dans cette ville de béton. Les arbres semblaient avoir changé leur feuillage estival pour une parure de gala. Et ce rouge écarlate n'est-il pas le symbole de la passion? Ce jaune or celui de la couardise? Et cet orange, un heureux mélange des deux. Au loin, les collines ressemblaient à un bouquet rouge, jaune et orange, tapissant harmonieusement le bouclier canadien. Toute cette beauté me donnait quand même la nostalgie de l'été. Mais bientôt l'automne aura perdu toutes ses feuilles, l'hiver fera ses glaçons que le printemps fondera.

Sur cette terre, rien n'est éternel, ni le bonheur ni la mirère.

Martine Simonklein

Il Clubo D'Italiano

Il clubo d'italiano volio dire che avevanno una duona occasione di parlare l'italiano insieme una volta per settimana. Il clubo volio dire grazie a la signora Laskowsky per lo fare possibile.

Una Clase Tipica De Español En Secundario V

Para la Señora Allen, el curso comienza en una clase vacia. En pocos minutos las once chicas entran charlando como siempre. Como cada día, ella nos saluda con las palabras "buenos días, siéntense." Una clase no seria completa sin los papelitos, unas fotos, Kirsten que ha olvidado su tarea, Mary que siempre esta inventando nuevas palabras como "sablo" en lugar de "arena", Celia que llega quince minutos despues del comienzo de la clase, la separacion de Diane y de Anne y claro, una discussion sobre el viaje a España el verano pasado. Estamos seguras que siempre tendremos buenos recuerdos de nuestros tres años de español. Damos nuestras sinceras gracias a la Senora Allen por su paciencia, su caracter simpatico y su imaginacion que ha guardado nuestras clases originales interesantes y vivas.

P.D. Nunca olvidaremos la diferencia entre "llover, llevar, llegar, llenar, llamar y llorar."

Diane Durocher y Anne Bolvari

El Club De Español

Cada viernes, las chicas de las clases de español, se reunen con la Señora Allen para el club de español. Este ano, preparamos el periódico de Navidad, "La Estrella Entre Las Estrellas." El dinero fue a Rodolfo, nuestro hi jo adoptivo en Bolivia. Ahora preparamos una comedia para las clases de español. Muchas gracias a la Señora Allen por su ayuda y generosidad.

Jazz Club

This year, the jazz club was headed by Jennifer Nobbs. Beginning with the most basic exercises, the girls progressed to the stage of carrying out many complex moves. Each Monday there were forty five minutes of exercising and fifteen minutes of choreography. Much preparation and dedication have been put out towards the Gym Demonstration in the spring.

Gym Club

This year the gym club was headed by Cynthia Joy, Mary Rowan, Natalie Laurence and Anick Valiquette. Many girls joined at the beginning of the school year hoping to improve their capabilities on the different pieces of apparatus. In March, the members started working on their routines for the Gym demonstration. Many thanks to Mrs. Watson, the staff coordinator, for her help and support.

Keep Fit Club

The Keep Fit club is a great new club led by Anna Rumin and Kate Bradeen. The club has a respectable fourteen-student membership. This club is designed to prepare the student for the grueling day ahead. Kate and Anna lead them in various exercises three days a week. Hopefully, this club will continue next year with increased membership.

Social Dance Club

Once a week, Debbie Day heads a number of gifted and rhythmically inclined students in their search for a flawless dance routine. Once the music is on, the girls let their bodies move to the beat and new steps are invented. While their feet are busy dancing, their faces are smiling, for this club is not only good for exercise but it is also an enjoyable place to be among friends.

Modern Dance Club

Modern dance club, led by Angela Franklin, was formed for people to show their expressions to the world around them through music and dance. The club met once a week on Thursday afternoons. We all enjoyed improvising dance steps and sharing some original creations.

Modelling Club

Under the direction of Miss Campbell, forty secondary V girls were taught the basic rules of etiquette, fashion and make-up. The whole school was able to see the results in May with the glamorous fashion show where each girl displayed her own talent.

Radio Club

Jo-Ann Zorzi led the members of radio club in an attempt to learn some fundamental electronics and the working of an amateur radio station. Sending and receiving Morse Code messages were part of the club's activities.

Choral Club

Under the expert direction of Mrs. Makin the choral club continued its tradition of providing fine entertainment for the students, staff and friends of the school. In December, the hundred-strong group performed a program entitled "Christmas Around The World." It was made up of traditional songs from countries such as China, Italy and Switzerland. Several medieval and Shakesperian songs were also presented at the Drama Nights in April. The club has enjoyed a busy, successful, fun year.

Creative Drama Club

Every Tuesday afternoon, the members of creative drama club gathered in the reception room. Led by Toni Maioni, the budding actresses learned the basic skills of speech, stage movement, mime and characterization. Later in the year, they created impromptu skits and playlets.

The purpose of this small book is to link the year's activities to the mood and atmosphere of their surroundings to group varied events that have made lasting impressions in such a way that their meaning is deepened and enhanced. It is hoped that this yearbook has provided a guided tour through a maze of expectations and amazements, pains and pleasures, trials and accomplishments.

I am greatly indebted to all those who provided generous assistance in the production of this yearbook.
